VENEZUELAN CASE

The United States Addresses a Polite Note to Germany.

Asked to Define a "Peaceful Blockade"—Italy Likely to Become Involved.

LATEST FROM THE TROUBLE

GERMANY ASKED TO DEFINE.

New York, Dec. 17.—Secretary Hay cabled Ambassador Tower at Berlin, says the World's correspondent at Washington to ask the German government to define for this country exactly what is meant by a "Peaceful blockade."

The dispatch is couched in the suavest of diplomatic language, but it is was insistent that Germany should reply.

This inquiry was decided upon at a cabinet meeting, where it was discussed fully.

Although it has not yet been put into public expression, this government contends there is no such thing as "Peaceful blockade." If a state of war does not exist this government will contend, at the proper time that the United States ships must be allowed to pass.

The test will come when the Red Line steamer Caracas arrives at Laguna, probably next Saturday. If that ship goes through, as it is expected it will, other ships from other nations will also demand to go through and "Peaceful blockade" will become a farce.

If Germany insists on its right to blockade peacefully and refuses to allow American ships through, then Admiral Dewey's fleet will be sent to Venezuela to convoy American ships through German and English lines.

Rome, via Frontier, Dec. 17.—Two Italian cruisers have been ordered to be in readiness to sail for Venezuela. It is stated that the Duke of Abruzzi, the famous explorer, will command them.

Caracas, Dec. 17.—Further complications will result for Venezuela through the refusal of President Castro to accede to demands for claims made by the Italian minister, Rivas.

The demands were not an ultimatum, but Italy may now make them so. Castro's reply was a refusal.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—The United States will intervene in Venezuela only when the "peaceful blockade" is enforced against an American ship or when some flagrant breach of the Monroe doctrine becomes apparent. Minister Bowen has confirmed the press reports to the effect that the guns of the allied fleet which bombarded Puerto Cabello were directed entirely at the fortifications, and not at the town.

London, Dec. 17.—In the house of commons the Venezuelan matter was taken up again and Lord Cranborne, parliamentary secretary for foreign affairs, was the target of questions. In reply to several queries, he made the statement that Great Britain had made no attempt to refer the Venezuelan dispute to arbitration.

In the house of lords, Lord Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs, said that German and British ships would blockade Venezuelan ports, but that it was not intended to land a British force or occupy Venezuelan territory.

NOT YET DRAGGED.

Officer Tom Evitts reports that he has been unable to drag the gravel pit where the body of a supposed murdered woman was thrown. He says that he has been delayed by the failure to get a skiff in which to drag the pit. The boat will be brought there today and the dragging begun immediately.

GUN CLUB TO DECIDE.

A meeting of the Paducah Gun Club will be held next Wednesday night for the purpose of taking a final vote on the proposed new clubhouse. The big house, which was next to the old one, was the one that the club decided to build and active

BOYS ARE BEING PAID

Capt Longmire Arrives With Delayed Money From Uncle Sam.

There Is Over $3,000 Due Former Members of the Army From Paducah.

SOLDIERS COMING IN SLOWLY

The former members of company K, state guards, and Kentucky volunteers, have not been coming in rapidly today to receive the money paid them by the government. There had been not twenty about noon, and this afternoon not near half had called for their checks.

Captain C. W. Longmire, of Lexington, arrived this morning from Louisville and established headquarters in Mr. C. W. Emery's cigar store. He had on his roll about 78 men, and the total amount due the local members was $3,087.92.

Some received more than others, but the majority of them received $34.54. This was due them for services previous to being mustered into the United States army. There had been some misunderstanding in regard to the amount due local military boys, but Captain Longmire stated he knew nothing about it. He said he heard that they had all been paid what was due them, but that if any mistake was made, it was the fault of the government, and he presumed if the government wanted to make the men a present of the money, they would not be averse to taking it.

Captain Longmire expects to be in the city until the 11:30 train tomorrow morning, and then will leave for Hartford, Ky., to pay off the members of the company. Heirs of those who are dead will have to collect the amounts due the deceased by due process of law, but absent members may collect by power of attorney. All those who do not call for their money or collect it by power of attorney will have to send to Frankfort after Captain Longmire leaves. It will be left there and sent out only on power of attorney to the person to whom payable.

Captain Longmire is a most courteous young man, and will doubtless make many friends while in Paducah. He is very careful to explain everything to persons making inquiry, and never loses his patience.

FOR A KENTUCKY EXHIBIT.

EVERY COAL COMPANY IN THE STATE TO BE REPRESENTED AT FAIR MEETING.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 17.—A meeting of the coal operators of Kentucky will be held in Louisville on Monday, January 13. Practically every coal company in the state will be represented by its chief official or officers. Officers and directors of the Kentucky exhibit association are to lay before the body the plans of the organization. Thirteen of Kentucky's most prominent operators, including President W. I. Barnard of the Western Kentucky Operators' Association, have signed the call. The terms of the association will be clearly presented to the assembly that they may endorse the movement to have the state creditably represented at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and adopt a plan of giving that object the support of the extensive coal interests of the state. The fact that Kentucky has coal deposits enough to supply the world will be forcibly pointed out, as will the fact that a great mineral exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair, such as the exhibit association contemplates, will be a long step in the future development of the rich coal fields of the state.

The Kentucky Bankers' Association has endorsed the work of the exhibit association and pledged substantial support. It is believed that the coal operators will act in the same practical way.

The funeral of Mr. Straub will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, interment at Oak Grove, Rev. Rupprecht, of the German Lutheran church, will conduct the

TRAINS UNCERTAIN

The Delay on all Roads is Not so Great Now.

Several Fast Trains Had to Be Annulled Yesterday—Better Time Today.

OFFICIAL ACCIDENTALLY HURT

The Illinois Central is still experiencing trouble on account of the washouts and the heavy rains. The N., O. and St. L., however, is faring a little better. The early accommodation train started out this morning on the latter road, and will try to make its regular run.

Train No. 104, of the Illinois Central due here this morning at 1:30, was reported eight hours late at the outset, and was annulled before it reached this city. No. 104, which was held at Mayfield yesterday on account of the washout at Boaz, was annulled and turned back to run as No. 103. The No. 103, which was held at Boaz, was turned back this way and sent to Louisville as No. 102. The accommodation passenger train came on through many hours late and ran behind the regular noon passenger which arrived here at 4 o'clock. The noon passenger was run to Louisville as the first section of No. 122 and the regular 122 was sent out behind it as the second section. All stops were made by the second section while the first section ran as the cannon ball.

Train No. 103, due here at 3:45 this morning, came through nearly two hours late. No. 121, due into Paducah at 3:37 yesterday afternoon, was delayed five hours by a small wreck at Tip Top. A lumber car broke down at that place on the main line and delayed traffic for five hours. The Big Chitty fill, which has been crumbling away, is still being worked on and the employees here are loading cars of cinders and shipping them to that place to make the fill stronger. The bridge is all right.

Mr. A. D. Brooks, superintendent of the water supplies of the Louisville division of the L. O., was injured yesterday at Caneyville. He was working under a tank when a laborer accidentally dropped a spike maul on his head. A deep gash was cut in the scalp and Mr. Brooks was rendered unconscious for a time. The injury is not serious but very painful.

SUES FOR BALANCE

ON JUDGMENT.

John Davis today filed a suit in circuit court against C. E. Hilton, administrator of W. A. Ballentine, for a balance on a judgment amounting to $354.20. The original judgment was for $990.13, but property was sold and part of the judgment settled.

Miss Mary Scott, who is attending college in Oxford, O., will arrive Thursday to spend the holidays at home.

WEDDING NEAR MAYFIELD.

Miss Mary Wilson of near Mayfield, and Mr. Charles Wyatt, of Sedalia, Graves county, will be married at the bride's home this evening.

QUITE A SENSATION

Well Known Young Man of Gilbertsville Arrested for Theft.

Alleged to Have Keys That Fit Many Stores in the Little Town.

WAS NEATLY TRAPPED

Stewart Trowell, a well known young man of Gilbertsville, was arrested last night by the city marshal on the charge of housebreaking and larceny.

The merchants of that place had for the past several months been missing articles from their stores and could not detect the thief. Mr. John Helsley, one of the merchants, seemed to be getting the worst end of the matter and missed things from day to day. Last night he decided to keep a watch and he presumably went to supper, leaving his store securely locked. Trowell came up soon after and taking out a bunch of keys unlocked the door, entered, pulled out the cash drawer and took the cash and also a pair of gloves. He was followed and when he became aware that he was caught, began to run. The marshal was then secured and Trowell was arrested at his home. He had thrown the money away but the gloves were found in his trunk. He confessed later. A bunch of keys that fit many stores in that city was found on him when a search was made. It is thought that he is the person guilty of entering and robbing other stores.

MADDER THAN EVER

MARSHAL CROW SEEMS TO THINK THEY ARE RUBBING IT IN.

City Marshal James Crow, who is out of a job until his injunction suit against the city is settled in the courts, is not very well pleased at the action of the council Monday night in ordering that suit be brought against him to recover $22, the amount realized on a cow that was sold by him pursuant to an order of court. The owner sued to recover, and the city lost the suit.

Marshal Crow says that the whole thing is the fault of the city solicitor, who made no effort to win the case. The city solicitor says that the marshal failed to file an affidavit of the cow's arrest with the city judge, as required, and although the cow ran at large, was impounded and advertised for sale and ordered sold, the one requirement omitted caused the city to lose the suit, and it will have to be paid by the marshal, whose mistake caused it.

WEDDING NEAR MAYFIELD.

Miss Mary Wilson of near Mayfield, and Mr. Charles Wyatt, of Sedalia, Graves county, will be married at the bride's home this evening.

CAMP OF VETERANS

Capt Longmire to Organize Throughout the State Soon.

Paducah Will Be Included in the List of Cities That Will Have Organizations.

THE DATE NOW UNCERTAIN

Captain C. W. Longmire, of Lexington, who is here to pay off the members of Co. K, has just received his appointment as inspector and chief mustering officer of the Kentucky department of the Spanish-American War Veterans' Association, with the rank of colonel.

Needless to say Captain Longmire, in the rush of handing out checks to the members of the state militia, has not been too busy to appreciate the honor.

The appointment was made by I. L. Shulafer, commander of the Kentucky department. Captain Longmire will begin the active work of organizing the 40 or more proposed camps of Spanish-American war veterans at once.

Captain Longmire has been assisting Lieutenant Merton G. Craig, paymaster, in paying off the ten companies of the Louisville Legion for back salaries accruing from the time the soldiers reported for service until they were mustered into the volunteer army.

Captain Longmire is captain commanding company M, Third Kentucky Infantry at Lexington, and is also state guard inspector of Kentucky. He has made an enviable reputation in the state guard service and is known in militia circles all over Kentucky. His duties as state guard inspector require him to visit all the towns and cities in the state in which state guard companies are maintained, and this service will be of a great deal of benefit to him in organizing Spanish-American war veterans' camps.

It is estimated that there are 4,000 or more Spanish-American war veterans in Kentucky.

Captain Longmire intended to organize the first camp of veterans in Paducah on this trip, but he could not communicate with anyone in time to have the necessary arrangements made, and will have to make another trip to do it.

He stated this morning that he thought the plan would prove very popular among the former members of the Spanish-American volunteers and hopes that it will be enthusiastically received. There will be annual state reunions or encampments, and next year there is to be a national encampment at Milwaukee.

He is not certain where he will begin organizing, but hopes to return to Paducah and start off the camp in a short time.

BROKE UP CHURCH

And it Cost This Colored Sport Just About $30

Notes From Today's Police Court—One Case Dismissed.

Guy Roberts, colored, was presented in police court this morning on a charge of disturbing public worship at a colored church on the South Side and fined $30. The evidence showed that he went there drunk, and by his loud talk and disorderly conduct broke up the service.

Will Berry and Joe Givens, colored, were fined $5 and costs for fast driving.

Ida Eastwood, Maggie Ferguson and Mollie Roberts, of West Court, were charged with fighting, but they didn't fight. They were dismissed so they can go back and make a better job of it, and justify a fine.

Mallory Davis, white, was charged with vagrancy, but will be dismissed. He came here to get work on the iron furnace, and the case was left open.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Court of Appeals Again Reverses Democratic Political Court.

Three of the Judges Dissented From the Opinion Rendered Today.

Frankfort, Dec. 17.—The court of appeals today reversed the judgment of the Franklin circuit court sentencing Jim Howard to confinement for life in the state penitentiary for complicity in the murder of William Goebel, and awarded him a new trial. Judge Durrelle delivered the opinion and Judges Hobson, White and Paynter dissented from the opinion.

STILL VIOLENT

No Change in the Condition of I. C. Section Hand.

A Tinner Scalded This Morning at the Shops—Machinist Disabled.

Leonard Holloway, of Princeton, the section hand who fell off a handcar on the second of the month and received brain injuries, is no better. He was brought here from Princeton and taken to the Illinois Central hospital. The treatment for this type of insanity is slow and it will probably be some time before any change will be noted in his condition. He is very violent and it takes from four to five men to overcome him when he is loose and is seized with one of his insane fits. He has been kept tied down part of the time he has been in the hospital.

William Jones, a tinner employed in the local I. C. shops, was badly scalded this morning while working about an engine. He was under the big machine making repairs when steam escaped and scalded his left leg badly. Jones was taken to the hospital where the injury was treated.

M. P. Brown, an I. C. machinist employed in the local shops, was injured yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and is now in the hospital laid up with a sprained elbow and thumb. He stumbled over some obstacle and was thrown to the ground. In alighting he struck his elbow and hand.

GRANDMOTHER DEAD

PROMINENT LADY OF METROPOLIS DIED THERE YESTERDAY.

Clerk A. J. Adams of the Palmer house today received news of the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Joseph T. Brown, at Metropolis, Ill., yesterday. She was 73 years old and one of the most prominent women there. She had been ill for a long time and the funeral will not take place probably until Friday, as it was her request that she be kept for three days. She leaves three children, Capt. A. H. Brown of the Queen City, Mrs. Lloyd Whitlow of Hopkinsville, who passed through the city today en route to Metropolis, and Mrs. Clara G. Gleaner of Anna, Ill. Mr. Adams will attend the funeral.

OIL STILL GOING UP

Advance of One Cent Last Week Was Reported by Trust.

Another Advance Probable—Shortage in Supply and Production the Cause.

KENTUCKY VERY IMPORTANT

The advance of three cents per gallon in oil made by the Standard Oil company in the last three weeks has called forth a great deal of comment. One who is supposed to know says that the advance is due solely to the fact that crude oil stocks are getting low.

The same gentleman states that the Standard Oil company is looking to the Kentucky field to furnish oil in sufficient quantities to make up for the decreased production of the Pennsylvania fields. He cites the purchase of thousands of acres of land by the Standard company in the oil belt of this state, the building of a pipe line and the buying up of numerous plugged wells.

"The law of supply and demand must rule, even in the oil business," said a well posted man, "and as the supply falls behind the demand prices must advance. The only possibility for a slump in prices lies in the development of new fields. The Kentucky fields may offset the decrease in production, but they do not now produce enough to alter conditions. The Standard is spending millions to develop these and other fields, and unquestionably the production of high-grade oil will be materially increased in time. But in the meantime it is likely that prices will go a great deal higher than they are today."

Oil went up one cent last week and it would not be surprising to see the price advanced two cents more within the next few weeks.

Crude oils are advancing more rapidly than refined.

WON THE STRIKE.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL BEAT THE FREIGHT HANDLERS AT NEW ORLEANS.

The Illinois Central has practically beaten the striking freight handlers of New Orleans. The longshoremen and screwmen who had walked out Saturday went back to work, and yesterday, with the thousand strike breakers the company had brought in, there was no trouble in loading the vessels lying at the export terminals. Many of the strike breakers were from this section of the country.

He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Dec. 1, 1901." A CURE FOR CROUP

A PADUCAH MOTHER TELLS OF A SIMPLE REMEDY FOR THIS DISEASE

Editor of The Sun: Last winter while visiting in Ithaca, N. Y., famous as being the seat of Cornell University, a friend told me of a medicine that was made there which had cured her children of the worst attacks of croup and which, when used in time, had prevented the disease. Naturally I did not believe it would have any more effect than the many things I had used but I resolved to try it, and as my youngest child is predisposed to croup, whenever she seemed croupy I pinned to her night robe close under the chin, on going to bed, a piece of flannel cloth dampened with a few drops of Hyomei. This has thus far prevented all attacks and I feel sure there will be no more croup in my home.

My sister and her little child were visiting me last week and one night after the little girl had been out of doors playing in the wind, she awakened the whole house with a hoarse, barking cough and it seemed as though the poor little thing would strangle to death. I immediately got my bottle of Hyomei, put about 20 drops of it on a piece of flannel and held it close to her face so that she could breathe it freely. This broke the spasm almost immediately and after adding a little more Hyomei to the cloth, I pinned it to her night robe under the chin and she was soon asleep. I forgot to say that I also rubbed the front of her chest and neck with Hyomei balm. The effect of this treatment was immediate.

I feel so grateful for my wonderful relief that I have the most earnest desire to let mothers know of this preventive and cure for one of the most dreadful diseases of childhood. I hope you will print this letter in a prominent place so that every mother may see it. Yours very truly,

LINE TO NASHVILLE

Illinois Central to Have a Straight Line.

It Is Also Reported That It is to Bridge the Ohio River Again.

OF INTEREST TO PADUCAH

The following dispatch sent out to the big city papers yesterday will be of great interest to Paducah, as it shows that the Illinois Central is gradually developing into one of the largest railroad systems in the world, and always builds up the cities on its lines.

"Announcement has been made that the Illinois Central Railroad company is preparing to have a straight line from Chicago to Nashville. It is reported that contracts have been let for grading, bridge and track work on the extension north of the Providence line to the Ohio river, and, that the line from Olaraville, Tenn., is to be completed to Nashville, filling in all the gaps that now remain between the principal city on the Cumberland and the southern boundary of Illinois. The company also has under consideration the erection of another bridge across the Ohio river."

The bridge referred to is doubtless the one across the Ohio from the Kentucky shore to near Cave-in-Rock, Ill., where soundings are being made. If the latter bridge is built, however, it is not believed there will be anything more than a remote possibility of the company's ever building a bridge at Paducah.

OLD JERUSALEM TO BE REPRODUCED.

St. Louis, Dec. 17.—The Holy City of Jerusalem will be reproduced at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. Among the first concessions granted by the World's Fair management is one allotting ten acres in the very heart of the World's Fair grounds for this purpose.

As the city of Jerusalem is the most interesting city in the world, so will the Jerusalem exhibit be one of the most interesting features of the great Louisiana Purchase exposition.

The enterprise is in the hands of a company of well known St. Louis men. The company contains among its stockholders a number of the leading clergymen of this city. The president of the advisory board is the Rev. W. B. Palmore, editor of the Christian Advocate, and the secretary is the Rev. Samuel I. Lindsay, who has been religious editor of the St. Louis Republic for the past six years. The general manager is Mr. Alex. Konta, who has traveled much in Palestine and is thoroughly familiar with the city of Jerusalem and the things to be seen there, which are of especial interest to pilgrims from all parts of the world.

It is the intention of the company to make just as nearly an exact reproduction of Jerusalem as the ten acres will permit. In fact, it will be really ten acres right out of the heart of the Holy City. Famous churches, such as the church of the Holy Sepulchre and the Mosque of Omar, will be reproduced in almost their exact size, as will also the Walling Place of the Jews and other historic buildings. The whole site will be surrounded by an exact counterpart of the walls of Jerusalem, showing the Damascus Gate and other entrances whose names are household words throughout all Christendom. The Garden of Gethsemane, just outside the walls, and the Mount of Olives will be shown. It will also be possible to see the pool of Siloam and the women washing their garments therein.

As is well known, there are three calendars in use by the great religious sects in Jerusalem, namely, the Armenian, Greek and Roman. Each of these great religious bodies have, therefore, different days on which certain religious festivals are observed. It is the intention to have processions daily through the streets of this new Jerusalem in strict accord with the processions in old Jerusalem.

Mr. Jacob Straub, for years a citizen of Paducah, died at 7:30 last night at his home, 1137 North Fourteenth street, after a long illness from a complication of diseases. Mr. Straub had been in failing health for two years past and about a month ago became too ill to leave his bed.

He was born near Boaz, Graves county, was 55 years old, and was a man liked by all who had known him since he came here when a young man. He leaves a wife and seven children, Mrs. Amelia Shepherd, Misses Emma and Katie Straub, and Messrs. Oscar, Ernest, William and Jacob Straub, and a sister, Mrs. John Lanier.

IN SELF DEFENSE

FIRST AUTHENTIC REPORT OF THE HUNTER TRAGEDY.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 17.—"Godfrey Hunter, Jr., killed William A. Fitzgerald in self-defense." That is the positive statement of an eye witness to the tragedy and the first person to come from Guatemala City who has been in a position to speak more authentically than from hearsay. Senor Agiles Rospania, editor of the Diario Americano, one of the leading government papers printed in Guatemala City, was a passenger on the steamer Anselm. He brings the first real authentic news of the killing. He was within a block of the scene when the trouble began and saw it. He declared very positively to-night that Hunter had killed Fitzgerald in self-defense, and only after Fitzgerald had fired one shot.

The first shot from Hunter's revolver disabled the right arm of Fitzgerald and after that three more shots were emptied into his body, two taking effect in the breast and the last entering the back as the man attempted to run away.

INTERESTING SUIT.

Bond Company Is To Allege That Governor Taylor Did Right.

The Question of the Legality of Gov. Taylor's Authority to Be Tested.

The Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland will, in its answer to the suit brought by the state, claim that W. S. Taylor had a right to call out the troops during the contest over state offices in 1900 and that Walter R. Day, treasurer and J. S. Sweeney, auditor, are not liable. The answer will be filed in the circuit court at Frankfort in a few days, says the Courier-Journal.

Mr. Daniel Lindsey, attorney for the company, was here Saturday conferring with local officers in regard to the case. The company is desirous of having the matter settled as soon as possible.

Mr. Willis S. Mullin, local agent, denied last night a report that an effort was being made to effect a compromise. He says the company is not liable and will fight the case to the bitter end.

It will be alleged in the answer that Taylor was governor at the time the troops were ordered out and that Day and Sweeney were compelled to pay them for their services. The company will claim they were merely agents for the commonwealth, and it was as much their duty to pay the soldiers as it was to pay judges, sheriffs and other state and county officers.

It will be remembered that Taylor called out the troops immediately after Governor Goebel was shot, and the day after the army of mountain men was taken to Frankfort. They were kept there some time after Governor Beckham was declared governor, and paid by the state officers. It is claimed by the state that after Governor Beckham assumed the duties of the office the troops were not in Frankfort by order of the governor, and

Only Wanted Information

Appearances are often deceiving, which was clearly demonstrated to a well known magistrate on legal row yesterday. A young man, evidently from somewhere off the turnpike, timidly walked in and held on nervously to his blue pasteboard box, that contained a new suit of clothes, judging from the advertisement on the outside.

"Who's the magistrate here?" he asked as he surveyed each person present inquiringly.

"I try to be," modestly returned the magistrate, as he advanced.

"What does it cost to get a marriage license here?" he asked, somewhat abashed, for he saw that the others began to size him up immediately as an intended bridegroom.

"We don't sell them here," returned the magistrate, "but they cost in this county $2."

"What does it cost to have the knot tied?"

"You might get it done for $2, but you'd be a mighty cheap man," laughed the magistrate, with an eye to business.

"Umph-umph," hesitated the youth, as he started away.

"Four dollars is pretty cheap for a girl," encouraged the magistrate.

"Yes," acquiesced the other, "but I just paid $30 today up at the big court house to get shot of one, and I ain't goin' to hurry to git another. I was just asking for a friend, you see."

The crowd relaxed into silence as the man left, and the magistrate looked after him.

THE FATAL SPOT

In everybody's foot there is one weak spot—The toes are strong, the ball of the foot is firm, the heel is unyielding, but the ARCH of the foot under the instep is a weak place. Being arched it is wholly unsupported—being weak its the one place that gets tired, but all the same its the muscle by which you walk, its the one part of the foot that needs to be helped.

The Dorothy Dodd Shoe

supports the arch of the foot by a special curved shank between the inner and outer soles, this shank exactly follows the arch of the foot. It holds its shape and supports the foot.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Who cannot dream is a pauper,
though he occupy a throne.
—Bert Finck.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Thursday.

The talk in St. Louis of abolishing the house of delegates seems to be superfluous, as the criminal court seems to be doing it rapidly enough.

The soldier boy's pay comes in good time for Christmas. It is all the more appreciated because it got here at about the right time, and will bring good cheer to many homes.

Judging from reports the Beckham-ites in this district are laying low to do to the other fellows what some of the other fellows did to Stone a few years ago in his fight against Hardin.

Upon reading the learned resolutions of the Democrats, or whatever they were, at the city hall Monday night one is inclined to think that the Democratic party belongs to them instead of their belonging to the Democratic party.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in what the tax rate is to be the coming year, and there seems to be general rejoicing that it is limited by law, for otherwise it probably would have no limit under the present administration.

The trouble in Venezuela seems to be simmering down. There is not enough of the country, outside of its impudence, to make a good sized skirmish with any large nation. It seems, however, that as the prospects brighten for no further hostilities on part of Germany or England, the indications point to another revolution.
They have to fight something.

The people of Kentucky seem warming up in the work for a state exhibit at St. Louis, and a great deal of interest is being aroused in the effort to secure a creditable one. It now seems certain that Kentucky will be one of the best represented states at the exposition, despite the fact that the legislature refused to make an appropriation.

Jim Howard has been given a new trial by the court of appeals. It seems that the politicians who have been trying these men charged with complicity in the Goebel murder ought to realize, by this time that honesty is the best policy, and allow the accused to have fair trials, which is all they ask. These travesties on justice have cost the state enough already.

The deadlock in the council over the number of police officers in the city will probably not affect the present force, as the end of the month is drawing near, and the council cannot agree on the ordinance reducing the force to twenty, passed by the aldermen. The board will

To The Sun

I inclose herewith

for the Christmas tree to be given the poor of the city the day following Christmas.

probably make its appointments the last of the month and appoint twenty-six unless the council agrees on a less in the meantime.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, has been said often, and the damage from the recent floods will necessitate the expenditure of vast sums of money for new material and additional labor. All this finds its way into the pockets of the manufacturer,
the laboring man and the merchant, and keeps money constantly in circulation. A feature of the rich man that does not appear to be appreciated is that he usually spends his money by investing it, and takes very little out of circulation.

If the city should issue bonds to cover its floating indebtedness, which it probably will never do, it would only give the crowd in office additional opportunity to waste the people's money. The tax rate cannot be over a certain amount, $1.85 on the $100 of taxable property, and there is no assurance that bonds are desired to reduce the tax levy. Let the tax levy be used only for paying off the city's indebtedness and the expenses of running the city, and if bonds are ever issued let it be for improvements, not to serve as a cloak for someone's extravagance.

We like to see the fur fly in the Democratic party. It is just beginning to fly now in this district. Some of the 1-am-better-than-thou men who hold mass conventions to denounce the action of the state committee and ask for the resignation of one of the committeemen are the same men who knifed Stone, a man in their own district, for P. Watt Hardin, an outsider, in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination a few years ago, and now are about to be paid back in their own coin. Take the resolution committee appointed at the "mas" convention Monday night and see how many P. Watt Hardin and Brown Democrats there are on it. Then you have more of an insight to the affair.
There is yet a lot of history to be written of this crowd, and if it doesn't get it good and strong before this campaign is over, thirty cents has ceased to look like thirty cents.

from Horace Clements, was set for the sixteenth day of the next term.

Horses' Hats in Denver.

A Denver milliner has a soft spot in her heart for horses. On a recent trip to New York she made a note of the horses' hats, which had not yet penetrated beyond the Mississippi. As a result she took home 500 hats for horses, and when the first hot day struck Denver she advertised that she would give them away to the first comers. As a consequence the western horse is probably prepared to rise up and call that particular milliner blessed.

INTERESTING NEWS.

HOW HOUSEKEEPERS CAN SAVE MONEY ON GROCERIES.

Here's interesting news a-plenty for the good housekeeper, the economical buyers and for "the man who foots the bills." In these days of high prices there are several places where live and let live prices prevail—that's in our groceries. We are too busy to chat with you much, but must tell you that our stocks are all brand new, of the greatest varieties and nothing but the best qualities. Our method is to sell strictly for cash. By doing so we can sell cheaper than any competitor, and the prices quoted below should convince we will.

prefer taking off the price of goods what souvenirs cost a dealer. These prices go into effect at 6 o'clock Thursday morning and last until Saturday afternoon at 6.

No phone orders will be taken for any of these goods, as we prefer to have you call so we can show you how we will save you 25 cents on every dollar spent for groceries. Watch our ads from day to day. We simply want to show you how to save money and incidentally make a customer of you.
We buy in huge quantities and buy cheaper than our competitors. This is the secret of how we can make such prices.

For instance, look here:

Tomatoes, 3 lb. can	9c
Granulated sugar, 22 lbs for	$1
Oranges, per doz.	10c
Mixed nuts, per lb.	14c
Can corn, worth 10c	7c

Workmen for the American Electric Telephone Co. will arrive next week from Jackson, Tenn., and begin connecting up the new telephones for the independent company. There are now about 500 instruments here ready to be installed.

Sheriff Lee Potter and his deputies expect to take an outing over at the Illinois lakes next week, probably Christmas day. They have worked on every holiday during the year, and having their labors pretty well performed, will enjoy a Christmas picnic.

Two men are reported to have held up several colored girls near an alley on Madison street between Fifth and Sixth and robbed them of a number of small articles they purchased for Christmas night before last.

Every member of the Christian church is requested to be at prayer meeting tonight. Brother H. D. Smith, pastor of the Christian church at Hopkinsville, will be present and preach at this service. Everybody invited to be present.

The electric light at Seventeenth and Tennessee streets began burning last night for the first time in six months, the residents claim. They held an impromptu celebration in the form of a mass meeting under the light, and seemed to be very proud of the illumination.

Tomorrow night the board of aldermen will hold its last regular meeting. It will meet in January to install the new board, the new members being Dr. J. S. Troutman and Messrs. Oscar Starks, C. H. Chamblin and Frank Kirchoff, all good Republicans.

The ladies of the First Cumberland church will give a bazaar at the store of E. P. Gilson and Co., commencing tomorrow afternoon and running all week. An interesting feature of the bazaar will be the country store which has been bountifully supplied with good things.

Beginning next month the board of education will hold meetings in January. Under the third class charter it has been meeting twice in December and not at all in January. It has to meet next month, however, and certify to the council how much money will be required to run the schools during the fiscal year.

CONTENTS OF A GIRL'S POCKET
Just a Few Things That Were Put Away in the Receptacle.
From time immemorial it has been understood that one can find almost anything in a boy's pocket. Funny writers and illustrators have had flings unnumbered at this particular object, but it is not recalled that any of them have devoted sufficient attention to that still more wonderful receptacle, a girl's pocketbook, which generally contains a conglomeration calculated to put a boy to the blush. A girl emptied her purse the other day. "I have to clean it out," she explained, "every once in a while, just as I do my bureau drawers." These are some of the things that were in it: Two $1 bills, a 50-cent piece, two quarters, a 5-cent piece (lead) and ten pennies, a "lucky" Italian coin, a Japanese "pocket piece," two receipts, three bills, a parlor-car check, four street railway transfers, five mutilated stamps, a pencil stub, matinee coupon, three keys, newspaper clippings and a cleaner's check for gloves.

A MAYOR'S NEST AND INJUNCTIONS.

For its many muddles, serious blunders and reckless extravagance our city government during the year 1902 will go down in our history as an indelible, dark spot among the bright records of our growth and achievements.

When a few months ago a few of our city officials, in an evil hour, raised such a "mare's nest" by getting out an injunction, to retard the city's progress, the fact soon developed that the real trouble was indeed

A MAYOR'S NEST.

This unpatriotic act so aroused the righteous indignation of the press and the people that the third class gentry were forced to desist.

Now again, ere the echoes of those ringing tones of condemnation have died away other members of the city hall trust have by injunction put upon the public stage the dark and gloomy spectre of

A CROW'S NEST.

With the mayor's nest in the leading role, but now behind the scenes. What is the purpose of these desperate measures? Simply to abolish our legitimate form of government and turn the city backward, for a decade, perhaps, in order that the official life of a few may a little longer endure. These barnacles on the body politic should be taught to realize that public office, in the terse language of the "late lamented" Grover, is a "public trust," and not a life-long private snap, as they seem to believe.

The rights of the people and the welfare of the city demand the destruction of the infamous incubator at the city hall, where all these abominations are hatched. Only in this way can every be wiped out and our public affairs administered in the interest of the people.

Thinking over these matters has worried everybody. It has made us reckless. The enormous tax rate has wiped our "wealth" away, we must do something to get ready cash and put the people in a good humor. Therefore today we inaugurate our great annual see river today.

The Victor is due out of the Cumberland river today.

The J. M. Bowel is due out of the Tennessee with ties.

The William Towle is due out of the Ohio with a tow of ties.

The Savannah is due out of Tennessee river Friday en route to St. Louis.

The Sunshine will pass down Sunday from Cincinnati where she leaves today.

The Avalon will leave this city tomorrow for Chattanooga on her initial trip this season.

The Butteroff is due today from Clarksville and upon her arrival will leave for Nashville.

The Clifton arrived from Tennessee river last night at 7 o'clock and left at 9 o'clock for St. Louis.

The Memphis will leave St. Louis today and will pass Paducah en route to Tennessee river Friday.

Captain J. R. Karnes will leave today with the steamer Bart E. Linehan for Ohio river for a tow of corn.

Inspector L. P. Holland arrived from Cumberland river this morning. He had been up on an inspection trip.

The towboat Beaver will pass down today from Cincinnati to Tyler, Mo., where she will get a tow or lumber.

The Bonanza will leave Memphis at 5 o'clock today and will pass Paducah en route to Cincinnati Friday night.

The Joe Fowler arrived late from Evansville today. She left immediately after her arrival on her return trip.

The Clyde arrived last night from Tennessee river and will leave on her return trip this afternoon late. She had a good trip.

The Kenton went to the mines this morning after a tow of coal. This is the first trip she has made since she was thoroughly overhauled at the dry docks.

Capt. Ed Howards' ways are neither unnatural nor peculiar. They are all marine ways, and at Cincinnati, Madison, Mound City and Paducah, says the Courier-Journal.

The big Sprague will leave New Orleans for the Ohio in a few days. She will bring an immense tow of empties.
People here are very anxious to see the largest towboat ever built.

The Dick Fowler did not arrive last night from Cairo, as is her usual custom, but awaited over for the Grau Opera company. She arrived here this morning at 6 o'clock and left on her return trip about 10:30.

The Inverness left this morning for Tennessee river to take up the ties that are now in the water. The river had risen fast but not enough to float away ties. The tie companies are all working hard to get the ties out of the way.

The Mary Michael, the towboat purchased Sunday by Captain Ed Woolfolk, of the city, left today for Hickman after a tow of lumber. This is her first trip out since she changed hands. Captain Woolfolk will run her this winter in the tie and coal trade.

An Evansville telegram says: The towboat Vincennes was sold to Hopkins and Wolfe at Catlettsburg, Ky.
The terms of the sale were not made public. The boat was the property of Samuel A. Jordan at Vincennes, Ind., and has been running in the Wabash river trade for some time.

The Charleston had a little bad luck this trip. At Crump's Landing, at the head of Wolff Island, in the Tennessee river, she went aground in the wind and had to be pulled off by the steamer Clyde. She was shaken up considerably by the operation but was only slightly damaged.

An interested reader at Smithland asks the Evening Post to describe the "plum soil mark" as applied to vessels, says the Louisville Post. No such mark is known in river craft of any kind; but underwriters insuring ocean-going vessels and their cargoes adopted, many years ago, an outside mark, the name of which is pronounced as the inquirer spells it, and it is worn by every insurable sea-going craft plying inside the limits of civilization. This mark notifies masters, owners and other who have charge of the loading of the craft that they must not load over it. If they do the act cancels policies of every kind which the vessel may carry, all underwriters declining to take risks on vessels or cargoes loaded deeper than that mark. On the river steamers there is what boat builders term the "sheerstroke," which is a red or blue line extending round the hull near the top. It is intended simply to show the steamer's sheer at all points along the hull that she may be loaded proportionately all over, and not heavy at any one place.
In building a steamboat the keel is first laid, then the upright beams are set, after which the first thing done is to "stretch the sheerstroke," and to this line the entire hull is built.

TOMORROW'S DEBATE.

There will be a debate tomorrow night on "Resolved: That the reading public devotes too much time to newspapers." This will be an interesting subject and already over half a dozen debaters have entered on the debate.

Tonight the young men's and business men's classes meet for gym drill work.

INSPECTING THE WORK.

Inspector Holmes, of the government service, is in the city today inspecting the work done on the custom house,
and will doubtless find it all well done,
and approve it. He leaves today.

"The third picture," the clown continued, "depicts the old mandarin after she has dismissed that most annoying of guests—remorse—from her bosom. She promises herself that interest shall supply the place of love in holding the seductive youth. It is with this object that she invests him with false honors and dignity and introduces him to the chief mandarins of the capital of the Celestial empire.
Then, since so handsome a youth must cut a fine figure in society, the lady must needs to sacrifice all of her possessions for his sake—necklaces, rings, bracelets, diamonds and pearls—every jewel she possesses. The monster carries all these to the pawnbrokers on Tientsin street and then has the cruelty to refuse her the tickets, so that she may have a chance of redeeming her treasures."

The clown thought that at last he had fulfilled the conditions. Mme.
Fauvel began to betray signs of uneasiness. Once she made an attempt to rise from the chair, but it seemed as if her strength failed her, and she sank back, forced to listen.

"Finally, ladies and gentlemen," continued the clown, "the richly stored jewel cases were emptied. The day came when the mandarin had nothing more to give. It was then that the young scoundrel conceived the project of carrying off the Jasper button belonging to the Mandarin Li Fo, a splendid jewel of incalculable value, a badge of dignity. It was kept in a granite chest and guarded by three soldiers night and day. Ah, the man-darine resisted a long time. She knew the innocent soldiers would be accused and crucified, as is the custom in Peking, and this thought restrained her.
But her lover besought her so tenderly that she finally yielded to his entreates, and the Jasper button was stolen. The fourth picture represents the guilty couple stealthily creeping down the private stairway. See their frightened look—see!"

He abruptly stopped. Three or four of his auditors rushed to the assistance of Mme. Fauvel, who seemed about to faint. The clown felt his arm roughly seized by some one behind him. He turned and faced De Clameran and Lagors, both of whom were pale with anger.

"What do you want, gentlemen?" he asked, with his most gracious air.

"To speak to you," they both answered.

"I am at your service."

He followed them to the end of the picture gallery, near a window opening on a balcony. Here they were unobserved except by the man in the Venetian cloak, whom the clown had addressed as "monsieur le count." The music having ended, the orchestra were taking a brief rest, and the company pouring into the gallery, it became very crowded. The sudden faintness of Mme. Fauvel had passed off unnoticed save by a few, who attributed it to the heat of the room. M.
Fauvel had been sent for, but when he came hurrying in he found his wife composedly talking to Madeleine. Not having as much control over his temper as Raoul, M. de Clameran angrily
said:

"In the first place, monsieur, I would like to know who you are."

The clown determined to answer as if he thought the question were a jest.

"You want my license, do you, my lord doge? I left it in the hands of the city authorities. It contains my name, age, profession, domicile and every detail!"

With an angry gesture M. de Clameran interrupted him.

"You have committed a gross insult!"

"I, my lord doge?"

"Yes, you! What do you mean by telling this abominable story?"

"Abominable! You may call it abominable, but I, who composed it!"

"Enough, monsieur. You will at least have the courage to acknowledge that your performance was a vile insultation against Mme. Fauvel!"

The clown stood with his head thrown back and mouth wide open, as if astounded at what he heard. But any one who knew him would have seen his bright black eyes sparkling with malicious satisfaction.

"Upon my word," he said as if speaking to himself, "this is the strangest thing I ever heard of! How can my drama of the Mandarin Li Fo have any allusion to Mme. Fauvel, whom I don't know from Adam or Eve?"

"Do you pretend," said M. de Clameran, "to be ignorant of M. Fauvel's misfortune?"

"A misfortune?"

"I refer, monsieur, to the robbery of which M. Fauvel was the victim and which has been in every one's mouth."

"Ah, yes, yes, I know. His cashier deceased with 350,000 francs. It is a thing that almost daily happens. But as to discovering any connection between this robbery and my play, that is another matter."

M. de Clameran made no reply. A nudge from Lagors had calmed him as if by enchantment. He seemed to regret having uttered the significant words drawn from him by excitement.

"Very well," he finally said in his usual haughty tone. "I must have been mistaken. I accept your explanation."

But the clown, so humble a moment
before, said:

"I have not made nor do I intend making any explanation."

"Monsieur!" began De Clameran.

"Allow me to finish, if you please."

If unintentionally I have offended the wife of a man whom I highly esteem, he is her protector; not you. Perhaps you will tell me he is too old to demand satisfaction. If so, let him send one of his sons. One of them is here.

You asked me who I am. In return I ask you who are you—you who constitute yourself Mme. Fauvel's champion?
Are you her relative, friend or ally?
What right have you to insult her by pretending to discover an allusion to her in a play invented for amusement?"

There was nothing to be said in reply to this. M. de Clameran sought a means of escape.

"I am a friend of M. Fauvel," he said, "and this title gives me the right to be as jealous of his reputation as if it were my own. If this is not a sufficient reason for my interference, I must inform you that his family will shortly be mine."

"Ah!"

"Next week, monsieur, my marriage with Mlle. Madeleine will be publicly announced."

This news was so unexpected, so startling, that for a moment the clown was discomfited. But it was only for a second, and, bowing with deference,
he said, with covert irony:

"Permit me to offer my congratulations, monsieur. Besides being queen of the ball tonight, Mlle. Madeleine will have a dowry of half a million, I hear."

Raoul de Lagors had listened anxiously, watching the people near them, to see if they overheard this conversa-
tion.

"We have had enough of this gossip," he said in a disdainful tone. "I will only say one thing more, Master Clown, and that is that your tongue is too long."

"Perhaps, my pretty boy, perhaps,
but my arm is still longer."

De Clameran hastened to end the matter.

"It is impossible for one to seek an explanation from a man who conceals his identity under the guise of a fool."

"You are at liberty, my lord doge, to ask the master of the house who I am
—if you dare."

"You are," cried Clameran—"you are!"

A warning look from Raoul checked the forger's master from using an epithet which would have led to an affray or at least a scandalous scene.

The clown stood with a sardonic smile and after a moment's silence stared M. de Clameran steadily in the face and said coolly:

"I was the best friend, monsieur, of your brother Gaston. I was his adviser and the confidant of his last wishes."

These few words fell like a clap of thunder upon De Clameran. He turned deadly pale and recoiled with his hands stretched out before him, as if shrinking from a specter. He tried to answer, to protest, but the words froze on his lips.

"Come, let us go," said Lagors, who retained his equanimity.

And he dragged Clameran away, supporting him, for he staggered like a drunken man and clung to the walls to prevent falling.

"Oh, ho!" exclaimed the clown.

He himself was almost as much astonished as the forger's master and stood stock still, watching the latter as he slowly left the room. It was with no decided object in view that he had ventured to use the last mysteriously threatening words, but he had been inspired to do so by his wonderful instinct, which with him was like the scent of a bloodhound.

"What can this mean?" he muttered.

"Why was he so frightened? What terrible memory have I awakened? I need not boast of my penetration or the subtlety of my plans. There is a great master, who without any effort in an instant destroys all my chimeras. He is called chance."

His mind had wandered far from the present scene when some one touched him on the shoulder, recalling him. It was the man in the Venetian cloak.

"Are you satisfied, M. Verduret?" he inquired.

"Yes and no, monsieur the count-
no, because I have not completely achieved the object I had in view when I asked you to be admitted here tonight; yes, because these two rascals behaved in a manner which dispels all doubt."

"And yet you complain!"

"I do not complain, monsieur the count. On the contrary, I bless chance, or, rather, Providence, which has just revealed to me the existence of a secret that I did not before even suspect."

Theatrical Notes.

The Bostlemann Quartette pleased a small but appreciative audience at the Y. M. C. A. last night and left today for Indianapolis, Ind. It is one of the cleverest musical organizations ever heard here.

The Grau Opera company, forty strong and with a world of scenery, play from Cairo, and plays afternoon and night. It is the best comic opera companies road, and never fails to draw audiences. Mr. Jules Grau, the manager, is quite well known in Paducah, having spent several weeks here a few years ago in organizing his company and rehearsing it. He is a cousin to Maurice Grau, perhaps the greatest opera manager in the world.

Advance Agent Will C. Elleler of the Tim Murphy company was in the city again today and left for Louisville. Mr. Murphy delighted a large audience in "A Capital Comedy" last season, and comes this season with a still better play, "Old Innocence." Mr. Murphy is the only successor to Sol Smith Russell, and is one of the drollest and most talented actors on the American stage. With him is Miss Louise Whitfield, a Clarksville, Tenn., belle who is well known in Paducah. She is a very talented actress, and will add to the attractiveness of the play.

The DeLacour and Fields company will open an engagement at The Kentucky tomorrow night and for the balance of the week, with Saturday matinee. The opening play will be "The Tie That Binds," a four act comedy-drama of intense heart interest. Sensational and beautiful scenic and mechanical effects are promised. In addition to a strong and efficient cast numerous specialties are introduced throughout the action of the play. One lady with each paid reserved seat will be admitted free tomorrow evening if purchased before 5 p. m. Popular prices.

Who know and appreciate the artistic ability of that well known comedian, Mr. Tim Murphy, the announcement of his coming engagement in this city as Jason Green in "Old Innocence," which met with such phenomenal success when presented by Mr. Murphy a few seasons ago, will be welcome news. It is a play and a player that leaves a pleasant memory after the playhouse has been deserted. The comedy is clean and pure, and as presented by the star and Miss Dorothy Sherrod, a charming and artistic actress, leaves nothing to be desired. Mr. Murphy's appearance in this city will be at The Kentucky on next Monday night, December 22. Seats go on sale Saturday morning.
